CAMP CLARK MOVES IN SOUTH

Camp Clark, 82 years old, has moved to a new site in the south. The late speaker of the other of United States is now at New Orleans, La., where his husband died March 2, 1936. Washington social whirls and the 28 years as a member of the house, she was a pioneer in the movement. For years, she sought the quiet of "Honey Shuck," Bowling Green, in summer. During the winter she went to New Orleans with a daughter, Mrs. M. Thompson.

BUSSES READY FOR PICNIC OVERFLOW

All-Day Outing To Be Held Friday At Fontaine Ferry

In order to take care of an anticipated overflow crowd on Friday, when school children, their parents and citizens of Jeffersonville in general have been invited to an all-day outing at Fontaine Ferry Park, Louisville, in observance of "Mayor Allen W. Jacobs' Day," arrangements have been made by the Mayor to have busses, furnished free by the Bridge Transit Company, at the foot of Spring Street, at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning, to transport persons to the Park who are unable to get on the Steamer Idlewild. It was pointed out that the boat's capacity is fixed at 1,500 and demand for tickets has exceeded that number to such an extent that an additional supply was ordered printed. Busses will also call at the Park for the return trip at 6 o'clock Friday evening, Mayor Jacobs said. The small delay from the time the boat departs for the home trip will be made because of the rush hour of the Jeffersonville-Louisville traffic. The boat will leave Jeffersonville Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock, and will afford a trip through the Louisville canal and locks on the way to Fontaine Ferry. The return trip will be timed to reach Jeffersonville at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The children will have access to a free ride on the "Ferris Wheel," will be admitted to "Ye Old Mill" and will be allowed a free ride on the "Captive Airplane." Tickets for the outing may be obtained at the Mayor's office in the New City Hall.

JEFF MOTORIST IS TAKEN IN CHASE

Driver Flees To Clark County In Attempt To Escape

Pleading guilty to a charge of speeding, Kenneth Strauch, 29, of Jeffersonville was fined $9.80 in the Court of a New Albany Justice of the Peace. Motorcycle Policeman Guy Hosbach, of New Albany, engaged Strauch in a chase which led up Spring Street, in that city, across the Silver Creek bridge and into Clark County, before making the arrest, according to a police report. Riding neck and neck east on Spring Street at the rate of fifty miles an hour, Strauch failed to heed an order to "pull over to the curb." Patrolman Hosbach said. As soon as the racing car crossed the Silver Creek bridge into Clark County, Strauch is reported to have jumped out of his car and jeered "You can't arrest me now." Patrolman Hosbach retorted "That's what you think" or words to that effect and hauled Strauch back to the City Jail.

LINEMAN IS ELECTROCUTED ABOVE UTICA

R. H. Rothert, 24, Is Victim Of Accident

Richard H. Rothert, 24, of Indianapolis, employed as a lineman for the Indiana Bell Telephone Company, was fatally injured this morning at 8:15 o'clock, when he came in contact with electric wires while repairing telephone lines on the Charlestown-Utica road, three miles from Utica. It was thought that the telephone wires had become short circuited with electric cables, causing the accident. The victim was burned on the left hand and shoulder and on the right leg, back of the knee cap. When he was hit by the bolt, he hung limp by his safety belt, and was lowered to the ground by fellow-workmen. He was placed in a truck, with artificial respiration employed while en route to the Coots' Chapel, where a pulmotor was available. Although Dr. R. W. Bruner used the pulmotor constantly on the victim, Rothert did not respond to treatment, and succumbed at 10 o'clock this morning. He was brought to the Jeffersonville district from Indianapolis by the Telephone Company, following the flood, where he has been employed repairing damaged telephone connections in the city and county. The body will remain at the Coots' Funeral Chapel until relatives in Indianapolis can be heard from.

Arraigned In Floyd County Court

James N. McCasland, 21, and Norman Dornbusch, both of Jeffersonville, who have been held in the Floyd County Jail since June 7, under bonds of $1,000 each, on charges of assault and battery with intent to kill, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in the Floyd Circuit Court today. Bonds were fixed at $3,000 each. The pair are held in connection with an alleged attack on Herbert Banet, 26, of Floyd Knobs, near midnight on June 5, at the dance hall of his father-in-law, James Clayton, of that place, where the victim was employed, following an altercation. Banet was knifed in the chest and side, it was reported at St. Edward's Hospital, where he received first aid. Later he was taken to his home, where he was thought to be improving. His condition today was said to have taken a turn for the worse.

"A MORNING BLAZE Incendiaries Succeed in Burning a House

"The frame house of three rooms on East Chestnut Street, owned by Mr. George White, wheel moulder at the Carworks, and lately occupied by Robert Allen, was destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock this morning. The fire was not discovered, nor the alarm turned in until after the building was entirely enveloped in flames, and had set the Sweeney block and Monsch's business house on fire. The Fire Department responded promptly, but owing to delay of alarm and the distance, they reached there too late to save the old rookery and turned their attention to saving the other buildings that had ignited from the blaze. The building was not occupied and the loss will not exceed $100. Miss Sweeney's and Monsch's losses will be but a few dollars. Several weeks ago the same house was set on fire, and as there was no fire in the building yesterday, it is evident that the second attempt to burn it, which succeeded, was the work of an incendiary."

"UNDER THE PALMS Big Audience and Fine Rendition

"The second night of the rendition of the cantata 'Under the Palms' was a much greater success than the first night. The audience was larger and its size more in consonance with the merit of the cantata. The work of the soloists and of the quartettes and choruses was very excellent and deserving of the highest praises, while the costuming and the action was good. The commendations heard on all sides are not surprising and are richly reserved. The story of the cantata is the return of the Jews from their captivity at Babylon and the celebration of the feast of tabernacles. Many historical personages are represented, King Cyrus, Nehemiah and other great characters appearing upon the stage. The excellence of the music and singing will appear by looking over the names of the soloists, who were: Messrs. Harry Ferguson, Jas. Clark, Harry Hamlin, George Clark, F. H. Duesler and Misses Lelia Kelly, Lola Cameron, Fannie Watts, Lizzie Davidson, Sallie Kane and Mrs. Marcus Brookbank. Miss Kane's singing was quite a pleasant surprise. The children's choruses were very sweet. Miss Alta Roberts, who had worked hard in getting up the cantata was unable to sing a note on account of hoarseness and was sadly disappointed. The Misses Garis of Rush County, dropped into places made vacant in the Cantata and did nicely. The pastor of Wall Street Church, in the absence of the Quarterly Conference of the Official Board, desires to return thanks, for and in behalf of the church, to Prof. Nahstoll, Miss Cameron, Messrs. Duesler, Ferguson, Hamlin and Leeper for the aid and assistance rendered in presenting the people of Jeffersonville the splendid cantata, 'Under the Palms.' Miss Alta Roberts did most of the

SPECIAL TAX FORMS TO BE ISSUED SOON

New Ruling Is Made By Department

Special return forms on which manufacturers and others engaged in interstate business will report income from sales in interstate commerce will be issued soon by the Indiana Gross Income Tax Division, it was announced by Clarence A. Jackson, Director of the Division. Under a ruling issued this week, taxpayers will be permitted to continue to defer tax payments on interstate sales pending a decision by the United States Supreme Court on the right of the State to levy the Gross Income Tax on such receipts. Under the new ruling, although tax payments of this type of income are not required at this time, the amount of such income and potential tax liability are to be reported for each regular taxpaying period. Separate reports showing interstate income on which tax has been deferred for each of the years since the gross income tax became operative May 1, 1933, also are required. Privilege of deferment without penalties or interest is extended only if prescribed returns are filed, Mr. Jackson explained. Mr. Jackson also emphasized that tax payments must be made in the regular way on all receipts, except those actually involving bona fide interstate commerce. The mere fact that income is received from another State does not constitute interstate commerce, he said. Decision to continue the deferment privilege was made at a conference of State officials attended by Governor M. Clifford Townsend, who asserted he approved the plan because "it protects the State's interests but at the same time provides the least possible inconvenience for taxpayers affected." It was estimated that potential back taxes amounting to more than $10,000,000 were involved.

BRIDGE LEAPER IS SAVED FROM RIVER

Jumps From Municipal Span During Heavy Storm

Rescued by Coast Guardsmen after she had plunged seventy-feet from a middle span of the Municipal Bridge into the Ohio River yesterday afternoon during a heavy rain, a woman who gave her name to police as Miss Petonella Wianck, 34, was in a serious condition at the Louisville City Hospital today suffering from shock and exposure. Unable to give a home address, the woman was charged with disorderly conduct and attempted suicide. Although unable to swim and dazed from striking the water, the woman had managed to struggle enough to keep herself afloat, according to Captain W. T. Farrell, of the Coast Guard, who rescued her in a motor boat. According to clerks at the hotel where the victim was registered, Miss Wianck would leave the hotel every day and not return until nightfall. Always, they said, she would tell of sitting somewhere and watching the river.
